INVESTIGATION ORDERED.

Effort to Discover Spanish War Veteran Who Disobeyed Regulations.

Corps Commander Fred S. Hodgson of the Spanish War Veterans has ordered an investigation to discover who is responsible for the sale to a second-hand dealer in this city of a number of badges and buttons of the organization. A former corps officer while passing along D street yes-John Bryson, grand secretary; Mrs. Nettie | terday discovered a new Spanish War Veteran badge displayed for sale in the window of a second-hand shop. The officer asked the dealer what he charged for the emblem and was informed that the price was $2. The dealer also stated he was aware that only members of the veteran organization could secure the badges from the proper officials. For that reason, he added, he would pay from 75 cents to $1 for all the badges he could get. The sale of Spanish War Veteran badges or buttons is regarded by the members of A plan for conducting the second and closing rounds of Grand Lodge visitations of that organization as a most serious offense. At the last general assembly at Buffalo a law was enacted providing that those em ance Lodge the 13th of September, and blems should always remain the property of the commands which issued them; that when a recruit was mustered in he should return them to the proper officer whenever he ceased to be a member of the command. Therefore, according to this law, no member has an individual right to either badge or button and cannot dispose of them by sale or otherwise. In order to became a member of the Spanish War Veterans the applicant must pre-sent an honorable discharge from the army, navy or marine corps. The restrictions are therefore to prevent the emblems from honorably discharged or those who did not serve in the army or navy during the war with Spain. The metal portions of the badge are made from captured Spanish cannon furnished the national organization by the War Department. It is said the Grand Army of the Repub-

ic has experienced similar difficulties with its badges and buttons, some of which fell into the hands of unworthy soldiers and non-veterans and were used for their selfish

DEMOLITION OF BRICK STACK.

The Concluding World to Be Done

Early Next Week. The blasting with dynamite of the stone foundation of the old power house stack on the site of the new municipal building was begun this morning about 5 o'clock, and was continued at intervals till 8:30 o'clock. The explosions were attended by no accidents, and the brokem stones fell within a few feet of their former position. The foundation will be reduced to the level of the street, blasting to be resumed the first of next week.

Mr. Harry O. Brown, who has charge of tearing down the foundation, and also of demolishing the tall stack on the site, informed a Star reporter this morning that the chimney will not be demolished until the first of next week. He proposes to take out a portion of the bricks in the northwest and the northeast corners of the foundation and then blow out the intervening pier with dynamic charges thus tervening pier with dynamite charges, thus causing the remaining eighty feet of the chimney to tumble toward the northeast corner of the lot.

A little while later he had a gun which he pointed at one of my windows, and his wife and brother came out and after a struggle took it from him," Mrs. Herbert testified. FIRST HUSBAND'S INSURANCE. Mrs. McManus Wants It, Although Married Again. Mrs. Margie Tate-McManus and her husband have filed a sult in equity in the Supreme Court of the District against Mrs. Emma A. Knight, Arthur E. Knight and the Commonwealth Provident Association of Philadelphia, to compel Mrs. Knight to surrender to Mrs. McManus a policy of insurance for $1,000, issued by the association in 1901 to Theodore Tate for the benefit of his then wife, Mrs. Margie Tate, and to require the association to pay the beneficiary the sum mentioned.

Mrs. McManus, who was then Mrs. Tate, states that Mr. Tate, then her husband, in the summer of last year, took out a policy of insurance for $1,000 on his life for her benefit. This policy, she says, was issued to him by the defendant association through Mrs. Knight as its local agent. She claims that all dues and premiums were promptly paid in full, and that the policy was in full force when Mr. Tate died some months ago She also alleges that she has sent the asso-ciation proper proofs of Mr. Tate's death, and has made demand for the money, but without success.

A rather unusual feature of the case is the assertion by Mrs. McManus that Mrs. Knight had possession of the policy when Mr. Tate died, and has had it ever since his death, and refuses to surrender it to the former unless she pays the latter one-third of the amount due under the policy. Mrs. McManus claims that Mrs. Knight retains the policy for the purpose of wrongfully coercing her into paying the one-third of the proceeds which the former has de-manded. The bill alleges that Arthur E. Knight is

Mrs. Knight's son, and has been assisting her in the matter. Mrs. McManus further states that the association agreed to pay her the loss within ninety days after Mr. Tate's death and the receipt by it of the proofs thereof; but that, although the time has expired without any objection to the proofs by the association, it has neglected and failed to either pay the loss or to as sign any specific reason for not paying it. The court is asked to appoint a custodian or receiver to take possession of the policy and hold it pending the suit, and to require Mrs. Knight to deliver it forthwith to such officer; and Mrs. McManus also prays that a final decree may be passed directing the delivery of the policy to her, and awarding her a recovery against the association for the full sum due her under it.

The bill was presented to Judge Anderson, who passed an order requiring Mrs. Knight to show cause on September 4 why a receiver or custodian shall not be appointed policy surrendered as asked by the complainants.
